On-Site Forensic Interview Peer Review

Forensic interviewing is a core service of a CAC and an important component for every MDT. Much research has been done in the field of child interviewing. Research tells us that interview protocols and intense forensic interview training are essential for professionals conducting forensic interviews. The research also tells us that while both are essential and important neither change an interviewer's behaviors. Peer Review is necessary to maintain optimal interviewer practice

Lamb, M.E., Sternberg, K., Orbach, Y., Esplin, P. & Mitchell, S. (2002) Is Ongoing Feedback Necessary to Maintain The Quality of Investigative Interviews With Allegedly Abused Children? Applied Developmental Science 2002, Vol. 6, No. 1, 35-41

Results indicate that appropriately trained interviewers can help children of all ages to provide the specific details often necessary to ensure successful prosecution.

Brubacher, S. P., Malloy, L. C., Lamb, M. E., & Roberts, K. P. (2013). How do interviewers and children discuss individual occurrences of alleged repeated abuse in Forensic Interviews? Applied Cognitive Psychology, 27(4), 443-450.

On-Site Peer Review for your MDT is available— MCSART has funding to send an experienced Forensic Interviewer to your community to conduct forensic interview peer review with your forensic interviewers and MDT members. Contact me for a request form.

Children's Justice Bureau News

A Message from Dana Toole, Bureau Chief, Children's Justice Bureau, Montana Department of Justice

The Children's Justice Bureau has a new Office of the Child & Family Ombudsman. The 2013 Montana legislature passed House Bill 76 to create an independent, impartial and confidential Child and Family Ombudsman.

The Child and Family Ombudsman responsibilities are to advocate for best practices in working with children and families, investigate issues within the Department of Health and Human Services (specifically the Child and Family Services Division), and provide outreach and education to citizens on how best to project and service children and families.

The U of M in Missoula is putting on a first ever Montana Victim Advocate Academy June 16-20. It is difficult to find training for child advocates, and although this conference offers a lot of information about other types of advocacy, the draft agenda looks pretty good. Here is the website:

http://www.iers.umt.edu/Montana_Victim_Advocate_Academy/default.php

Take a look and see if your programs want to send anyone. There is an application link on the website. MCSART can help fund registrations.

Advanced Trial Advocacy for Child Abuse Prosecutors

May 19-23, 2014, Savannah, GA

Application deadline: April 1, 2014

childPROOF is an intensive 5-day trial advocacy course designed for 30 child abuse prosecutors. This course is designed to allow prosecutors to hone the specific trial advocacy skills that are used in child abuse cases. Students will participate in a number of trial advocacy workshops designed to improve their courtroom abilities. Students will also receive classroom lecture from some of the foremost child abuse prosecutors from around the country.

Attendance fee

None

This course is by application and only and 30 prosecutors will be selected to attend

On May 29 - 30, 2014, ChildWise Institute will host the ACE Study Summit in Billings, Montana, focused exclusively on Adverse Childhood Experiences (ACEs) and their lifelong effect on vulnerable children and youth.

Adapting the NICHD Forensic Interview Model to Special Populations

The National Children's Advocacy Center (NCAC) and the National Institute of Child Health and Human Development (NICHD) are collaborating to discuss the important elements of the NICHD Forensic Interview Protocol and adaptations of the NICHD Protocol made within the NCAC's Child Forensic Interview Protocol for cognitively or linguistically challenged children.

Learn how these adaptations may be useful for interviewers using the NICHD or NCAC protocol or another narrative interview approach.

Tom Lyon Forensic Interview Webinar Series

The Midwest Regional CAC partnered with Tom Lyon to make his newest Ten Step Forensic Interview Course (Spring 2014) available to you and your Multidisciplinary Team. The course will cover the Ten-step interview and review research and practice regarding recantations and reluctance, the use of dolls and drawings, eliciting details without direct questions, and other topics.

Participants can take the course live on Friday mornings and/or access course sessions through a recorded archive On-Demand. The best news is that the class has been enhanced to now include a pre and post-test that consists of interviewing a virtual child, Julian.

Live Meeting Dates:

Fridays from 12:00pm-1:50pm (CST)
January 17th-April 18th, 2014

On-Demand:

All sessions are recorded and available outside of set class times.

Instructor:

Tom Lyon, Ph.D

Delivery:

Live and Archived

Cost: FREE

Benefits to Enrolling:

Due to the addition of a pre and post test, completion of the SPRING 2014 course can be applied as supplemental training hours toward the NCA Forensic Interview Standards for Accreditation. Students wishing to use this course toward meeting the accreditation standard, in addition to NCA approved State or National Training, must submit both their pre and post test and have proof of attendance for all class sessions.

Free Online Training Series on Child Sex Trafficking

We have completely redesigned our webinar series on child sex trafficking.

Please join us for one or all of the 6 webinars in the series!

Webinar Series Description: This FREE web-based training series is presented by The Children's Healthcare of Atlanta Stephanie V. Blank Center for Safe and Healthy Children and the Governor's Office for Children and Families. It aims to educate Georgia professionals on sex trafficking of children and teens. The series includes six individual modules which will be presented via live webinars. Interested professionals may attend any of the webinars and do not need to complete all six. The modules do not need to be completed in order; however we recommend that learners with limited knowledge of this topic complete the Introduction module prior to others in the series.

Continuing education credit has been approved for the following disciplines: Georgia medical providers, nurses, emergency medical service personnel and social workers (SW credit will not be available for the Medical Evaluation module presentations and the February 11 Intro module). At this time, no other CEUs are available. Participants must complete the post-training evaluation for each webinar they attend in order to receive continuing education credit.

Webinar Topics: ✓ Introduction to Child Sex Trafficking for Healthcare Professionals

- ✓ Human Trafficking and Sexual Exploitation: A Global Perspective, and... Boys are Victims Too
- ✓ Special Topics on Child Sex Trafficking: Victims, Pornography and the Legal Response
- ✓ The Demand Side: Traffickers, Buyers & Gangs
- ✓ Child Sex Trafficking and Commercial Sexual Exploitation: The Medical Evaluation of Victims
- ✓ Using a Victim-/Survivor-Centered Approach When Working with Trafficked Youth

To Register: Please click on the links in the attached flyer for the sessions you would like to register to attend. We will continuously update our website as additional dates and registration information becomes available. www.choa.org/csecwebinars

After registering you will receive an invitation email containing information about joining the Webinar.

Please feel free to share the information about this series with your colleagues.

Trends in Unwanted Online Experiences and Sexting Crimes Against Children Resource Center

This bulletin summarizes findings from the Third Youth Internet Safety Survey (YISS-3).

The YISS-3 asked about three types of unwanted online experiences that have been at the forefront of concerns regarding youth Internet use - unwanted sexual solicitations, harassment, and unwanted exposure to sexual material.

- Sexual solicitations: Requests to engage in sexual activities or sexual talk, or give personal sexual information that were unwanted or, whether wanted or not, made by an adult.
- Harassment: Threats or other offensive behavior (not sexual solicitation), sent online to the youth or posted online about the youth for others to see.
- Unwanted exposure to sexual material: Without seeking or expecting sexual material, being exposed to pictures of naked people or people having sex when doing online searches, surfing the web, opening email or links in email.

Protective Factors Approaches in Child Welfare

This issue brief provides a succinct overview of protective factors approaches to the prevention and treatment of child abuse and neglect. It is designed to help policymakers, administrators, child welfare and related professionals, service providers, advocates, and other interested individuals understand the concepts of risk and protective factors in families and communities and learn ways in which building protective factors can help to lessen risks for child abuse and neglect. This full commentary is located in CALiO™ under the Practitioners Reference and Resource Center in the Full-Text Open-Access Publications section under the heading of Child Welfare.

Essentials for Childhood: Steps to Create Safe, Stable, and Nurturing Relationships and Environments for all Children

Child maltreatment is a serious problem that can have lasting effects on victims. This type of violence can and must be stopped before it starts. Healthy child development is essential for lifelong health. We all benefit when all children have safe, stable, nurturing relationships and environments.

Safe, stable, and nurturing relationships and environments are essential to prevent child maltreatment and to assure children reach their full potential. The Essentials for Childhood technical package proposes evidence-based strategies communities can consider to promote relationships and environments that help children grow up to be healthy and productive citizens so that they, in turn, can build stronger and safer families and communities for their children.

During National Child Abuse Prevention Month, help to positively influence individuals, support healthy relationships among family members and neighbors, and encourage community involvement. This publication is located in CALiO in the Practitioners Reference and Resource Center in the section Full-Text Open-Access Publications under the heading of Parenting.

Sexting: When are state prosecutors deciding to prosecute? The Third National Juvenile Online Victimization Study (NJOV3)

Walsh, W., Wolak, J., & Finkelhor, D. (2013)

Crimes Against Children Research Center

Circumstances in which prosecutors would file charges

In order to better understand when prosecutors would file charges, prosecutors were asked an open ended question about the types of circumstances in which they would file charges in these cases. Most prosecutors mentioned that they would need some type of additional offense, such as harassment, unruly behavior, or stalking, in order to file charges and that the circumstance would have to move beyond the boyfriend/girlfriend situation.

There were four main themes that described when prosecutors would file charges against a minor.

Malicious intent/bullying/coercion or harassment (36%)

- If pictures were taken by a boyfriend or girlfriend who then started distributing pictures widely with the motive to get even or to harm the other person's reputation.
- If a juvenile gave a photo to someone with the expectation that privacy be maintained, but then the images were distributed as a way to bully the juvenile.

Distribution (25%)

- If a youth were sending images of herself to many people and there had already been an intervention, but she would not stop sending images, might charge to get her in the system.
- If the images were forwarded to someone else without the victim's consent, the charge might be invasion of privacy. If a large age difference existed between the people involved (22%)

- If a 19-year-old boy was getting a 12 or 14 or 15-year-old girl to take pictures of herself and then the pictures were sent to a minor, might charge with contributing to the delinquency of a minor.
- If the image was of a child under age 12 and sexually explicit, this would meet the CP felony statute.

Graphic nature of the images (9%)

- If violence was involved
- Gang rape, severe violence
- Only if very explicit pictures

Annotated Bibliography of Evidence Supporting the National Standards for Accreditation – National Children’s Alliance and the National Children’s Advocacy Center

A Note from NCA’s Executive Director:

Everyone,

As you know, the National Standards for Accreditation rest on a foundation of research regarding CACs, MDT’s, and the related disciplines. That evidence base is constantly evolving and we want to ensure that practices in the field match that evolving body of evidence. We commissioned a 2nd Edition of the Annotated Bibliography of Evidence Supporting the National Standards for Accreditation and we are pleased to report that the National Children’s Advocacy Center has now completed that work. We’d like to offer a special thank you to Chris Newlin, Muriel Wells, and Linda Cordisco-Steel for their hard work and dedication to the project. To review or download the “hot-off-the presses” revised Annotated Bibliography—which you may find very helpful as you need citations for grants or other proposals and in your work with your MDT—please see the link below:

<http://www.nationalchildrensalliance.org/index.php?s=118&cat=116>

The document is posted on the NCA website and is also available through CALiO. We hope you find this helpful in your ongoing work. Warm regards, Teresa Huizar, Executive Director, National Children’s Alliance

May, 2014

Dear CAM Member,

Last year, CAM became its own private, non-profit organization. With a year under our belt, we are embarking on 2014 with many member benefits already planned. CAM partnering with the MCSART Program of the Montana Department of Justice to provide a one-day Medical Training on physical abuse with Dr. Catherine Wells from the Kempe Center. We are also planning a Child Forensic Interview Training in September, Crimes Against Children Pre-Conference Training and Annual Meeting in conjunction with the 8th Annual Crime Prevention Conference in October. CAM will be providing scholarships to these trainings.

CAM is also partnering with the Western Regional CAC to bring Corroborating the Forensic Interview Training to two locations in June – Missoula on June 24th and 25th and Billings on June 26th and 27th. CAM has also been working intensely with communities that are looking to strengthen their response to child abuse investigation and prosecution as well as improving the health and welfare of children and non-offending caregivers through advocacy, medical and mental health services. We have 5 CACs that are accredited by the National Children's Alliance (NCA). There are three additional CACs that are striving for accreditation with NCA in 2014 and CAM is going to help get them there!

CAM is dedicated to working statewide, regionally and nationally to bring you information, training, research and resources to support your work. CAM has conducted on-site peer reviews, MDT Trainings, Board strategic planning and has provided outreach and technical assistance. Are your protocols out of date? Is your case review effective and efficient? Are you considering applying for accreditation with NCA? CAM is at your service for on-site technical assistance and training for your community professionals.

CAM needs you! CAM is a membership organization that is largely funded by federal grants. Our funding allows us to provide training and technical assistance but the funding is not enough to sustain our chapter full time. There are 56 counties in Montana; help CAM strengthen the response to child abuse victims by becoming a member of CAM.

CAM would like to thank our current members for your past support. We are recruiting new members and asking our current members to renew your membership for 2014. Every little bit helps and the benefits you will receive with your membership will help promote the work you do in your community, statewide and in our work with our Congressional delegation on a national level. Each year representatives from CAM attend a national leadership conference in DC where we meet with our Montana delegations. They are supportive of the work you do!

Please decide to become an active member of CAM. We need you. Please complete the membership application form and send in your membership application and dues today. Thank you for your past and continued support of CAM.

Sincerely,

Brenda George
