

Montana Rural Telemental Health Program

Connecting children in rural areas with trauma-trained therapists

Please visit our website to make a referral or for more information about the project:
www.childrensalliancemt.org/montana-rural-telemental-health-program/

The Need

Children who have experienced abuse and neglect benefit from trauma-informed and evidence-based therapy.

The Challenge

Unfortunately, child victims of abuse and neglect in rural and underserved areas often do not have access to trauma-informed therapy by trained and experienced therapists.

The Solution

The Children's Alliance of Montana, with support from Western Regional Children's Advocacy Center, launched the Montana Rural Telemental Health (MT RTMH) Program in January 2022 to connect children in rural and underserved areas of Montana with trauma-trained therapists across the state.

The Network & Its Benefits

The Montana Telemental Health Trauma Treatment Network is the network of therapists who have joined the Montana RTMH Program. Network therapists have opportunities for advanced training, participation in consultation calls, and other professional development around trauma-focused treatment and telemental health approaches in exchange for taking on a case(s) referred to the MT RTMH Program.

Necessary Qualifications

The MT RTMH Program seeks therapists licensed in the state of Montana who have experience or deep interest in working with traumatized children and their families. Therapists should be trained or willing to be trained in one or more evidence-based or evidence-informed trauma treatment models.

Join Us or Make a Referral to the Project

If you are a therapist interested in joining the MT Telemental Health Trauma Treatment Network or have questions about the program, email Jacole Douglas at jacole@childrensalliancemt.org or check out our webpage at <https://childrensalliancemt.org/montana-rural-telemental-health-program/>